Faces of Israel

Not Politics. Not Falafel. Everything In Between

Faces of Israel is an exciting educational program that explores the nature of Israel as a Jewish state today. The program specifically focuses on questions of Jewish identity, religious pluralism and civil liberties in Israel.

Faces of Israel is highly interactive and comprises presentation, news updates, questions, stories, discussion and film-viewing. Faces of Israel director Amy Beth Oppenheimer frequently travels to Jewish communities to present the program, facilitate conversation and spark dialogue about religion and state issues in Israel today.

The target audience for Faces of Israel is youth through adult education across the denominational spectrum. Each program has a slightly different focus and is tailored to the needs (interests and level) of the audience. Faces of Israel has been presented with rave reviews at over 175 schools, camps, synagogues, JCCs, universities and conferences in North America and Israel.

Faces of Israel was filmed, edited, and produced by Amy Beth Oppenheimer, a graduate of Johns Hopkins University with a focus on questions surrounding religion and state in Israel. Amy captured interviews with Israelis ranging from openly gay secular university students to leaders in the Masorti movement to Ultra-Orthodox Jews, including Israel's Ashkenazi Chief Rabbi. Faces of Israel is a fully-developed educational program, curriculum, and feature-length documentary that has been called "powerful... mature... honest... sophisticated," and "a must see."
